Drastic Changes In Japan

New Constitution
Renounces War,
Forbids Maintenance
Of Armed Forces

By Russell Brines
TOKYO, March 6.—(P)— A new Japanese constitution renouncing war for all time and prohibiting the maintenance of armed forces was announced today.

General MacArthur, reporting that it was drafted with his full approval, emphasized that "the foremost of its provisions . . . that abolishing war as a sovereign right of the nation . . . renders (Japan's) future security and very survival subject to the good faith and justice of the peace loving peoples of the world."

Hirohito, who will be reduced from "a sacred and inviolable" emperor to a symbol of state with very limited formal functions, issued a special rescript stating:

Drastic Revision
"It is my desire that the constitution of our empire be revised drastically upon the basis of the general will of the people and the principle of respect for the fundamental human rights."

"I command hereby the competent authorities of my government to put forth in conformity with my wish their best efforts toward accomplishment of this end."

(MacArthur's approval of the constitution, maintaining the Mikado as a symbol of state, presumably ends any possibility of his being arrested as a war crimes suspect.)
The proposed constitution vests sovereignty in the people and strips all governmental powers from the emperor.

House of Peers Out
It replaces the House of Peers with a House of Councillors, who must be elected by all of the people and who may be overridden by the house of representatives on some major issues.

It enumerates a long list of revolutionary individual rights for the Japanese.

It renounces "war as a sovereign right of the nation and the threat or use of force as a means of settling disputes."

Wataru Narahashi, chief cabinet secretary, told a press conference the constitution "is one of the drastic steps the government must take" and "he hopes it will be a bloodless revolution."

Premier Kijuro Shidehara said
in a statement:

"If our people are to occupy a place of honor in the family of nations, we must see to it that our constitution internally establishes firmly the foundation for democratic government and externally leads the rest of the world for abolition of war."

Present Officers Remain
The constitution provides for selection of the Premier by the Diet, but also specifies that the present officers can remain. Nevertheless, five members of the present cabinet may be forced to resign when an extension of the MacArthur-ordered political purge is announced in a few days.

The constitution vests sovereignty in the people and says the Emperor is "a symbol of state," de-riving "his position from the sovereign will of the people" he "never shall have powers related to the government."

Today is Beginning Of Lenten Season

Today is Ash Wednesday, the beginning of the Lenten season, observed by members of many churches. It continues until Easter Sunday, which this year is on April 21.

Lent is a time of penance and self-denial in commemoration of Christ's forty days of fasting.

Acrobatic Soldier Frightens Crowd

WORCESTER, Mass., March 6.
—(P)—A husky blond soldier performed on a 12-inch concrete ledge atop a building for 20 minutes yesterday, then leaped 35 feet into a fire net as horrified spectators below screamed.

The youth was identified as Pfc. Nelson W. Maulton, of Schenectady, N. Y., by Patrolman Daniel Shimkus. Shimkus said the soldier "was kidding with the crowd and kicking one leg out and leaning forward and back,"
while a fire net was being rigged.

A crowd of 1,000 persons tied up downtown traffic.

Amendment Defeated

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—
An amendment to the housing bill, described by its sponsors as aimed against speculation and inflation, was defeated by the House today on a 107 to 41 standing vote.

Reaction on Churchill Talk Varies

Both Criticism
And Praise From Capitol Hill

Varying reaction in the United States and Great Britain—and noncommittal silence in Moscow—
today greeted Winston Churchill's criticism of Russia and his proposal for an Anglo-American alliance.

The former British prime minister's Fulton Mo., speech yesterday, in which he said the Soviet Union sought "indefinite expansion," drew both criticism and praise from Capitol Hill at Washington.

A number of influential Senators said Churchill's suggestion for a military coalition between Great Britain and the United States would invite Russian retaliation and would be a "body blow" to the United Nations.

Other Senators expressed agreement with Churchill's estimate of Russian ambitions and with his assertion that it would be "wrong and imprudent" to confide the atom bomb secret to the infant
U. N.

Two Schools of Thought

The speech resulted in two schools of diplomatic thought in Washington. One held it would bring hidden distrust into the open and force a showdown; the other that it would bolster the belief that security must entail spheres of influence.

London parliamentary circles expressed belief Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin might be questioned concerning the speech on the floor of the House of Commons. Some members criticized Churchill's speech; some wondered if the government had prior knowledge of it.

None of the morning Moscow newspapers contained any mention of the speech or the notes which the United States dispatched to Russia regarding Iran and Manchuria.

No Truman Comment

President Truman, who introduced Churchill at Fulton, did not comment on or discuss the Churchill proposals.

United States editorial comment varied widely. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat termed Churchill's "fraternal association" proposal "as common sense, as it is necessary," whereas the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution said his call for "a virtual military alliance" should be answered with "a definite no."

No Alibis, Please

CHICAGO, March 6.—(P)—Dave Mill, a mounted policeman whose assignment includes keeping autos from parking in front of Central post station, says he hasn't received one valid excuse from any of the twelve policemen he gave tickets for traffic violations.

Mills said when he tagged a policeman's car yesterday the officer explained "Some other driver pushed my car into the No Parking area."

"Tell it to the Judge," was Mills'
reply.

Fulton Citizens May be Eating Hotdog Sandwiches for a Week

By Larry Hall

FULTON, Mo., March 6.—(P)— International affairs, which for a day focused the nation's attention on this tiny midwestern college town, faded into the background in Fulton today. The big question here was: "What are we going to do with all those hot dogs?"

Fulton's natives, who played host yesterday to Winston Churchill, President Truman and nearly 20,000 other visitors, faced a prospective menu of stale hot dogs and hamburger sandwiches the rest of the week.

Mayor Frank Hensley said plans had been made to take care of up to 40,000 persons, but — a lot of people brought their own lunches, Missouri-style, and the crowd wasn't as big as expected.
The mayor estimated between 20,- 000 and 25,000 people were on hand in this town of 8,200 to see the former British prime minister and the president.

Only One Sell-out

A half ton of hamburger and hot dogs and 45,000 buns were ordered to feed the throng, but only one downtown stand, operated by the American War Dads, reported a sell-out.

Fulton was dressed in carnival garb for its big day and colored streamers, a little bedraggled, still hung across the streets today.

It looked for awhile yesterday
as if Dr. F. L. McCluer, Westminster college's dynamic president, might not have any diplomas to present to the two famous recipients of honorary degrees; but they turned up in time for the presentation.

The only hitch in the well-planned proceedings was one that brought a smile. As a faculty member slipped the purple insignia of an honorary doctor of laws degree over President Truman's bared head, it caught on his jutting Missouri chin and the president flashed a grin.

The weatherman smiled on the program, too. Clouds broke for a few minutes as the processional headed for the converted college gymnasium and sunlight beamed
on the vivid red of Churchill's academic gown.

Humor in Talk

As the former prime minister addressed the crowd in the college gymnasium, the old Churchillian mastery of the English language sparked time and again. To emphasize his points, Churchill occasionally shook a chubby finger.
More often he laid his hands flat across his chest in a solemn gesture.

An impish smile brought chuckles from his audience as he jested about being invited to join the Sons of the American Revolution and told his "fellow members of the faculty" that he liked honorary degrees because they required no preliminary examinations.

Russia Must Cooperate To Get U. S. Loan

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—
High American officials said today Russia must promise whole-hearted economic cooperation with the United Nations before this government will even begin considering the Soviet request for a $1,000,000,000 loan.

Tax Bill Advanced

JEFFERSON CITY, March 6.— (P)—A bill to levy a new state tax of two per cent on the dividends of building and loan associations was advanced to the final vote
stage in the House of Representatives today, despite efforts to raise the tax to four or eight per cent.

Lions Plan for Zone Meeting

Business Session
And Dance Night
Of March 15

The noonday dinner meeting of the Lions club today at Hotel Bothwell was devoted chiefly to a business session over which Adolph Glenn, the president, presided. Plans for the zone meeting the night of March 15, at which Marshall, Warrensburg, Higginsville, Lexington and Sedalia will be represented, were discussed. A dance has been planned to follow the business session of the zone meeting at Hotel Bothwell. A discussion was held relative to the sponsoring of a play at an indefinite future date.

The Rev. H. U. Campbell, presented by Carl Urban, spoke on the Red Cross drive which begins next Monday, stressing local needs and the success of campaigns of the past two years. "In this year's drive the local chapter will receive 66 per cent of total donations, as compared with 46 per cent last year," Mr. Campbell stated.

Chairman and Guests
Orson Potter was the program chairman.

Guests at the meeting were: E.
L. Nichols of Harrisonville with
E. Herrick; Maurice Griffin with Jack Pasley, Raymond Peterson with Abe Silverman, W. E. Miller with Wm. F. Brown, Ernest Heller with John VandeKamp, and Benton Thompson of Akron, Ohio, with Paul Hausman.

Services Tonight

by the Congregational-Presbyterian, First Methodist, Fifth Street Methodist and Broadway Presbyterian churches will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Fifth Street Methodist church, with the Rev. H. M. Janssen preaching.
Music will be furnished by the choir of the Fifth Street church with Mrs. George R. Lovercamp as director. This is the first of the series of seven Wednesday night Lenten services to be conducted by the pastors of these churches.

Replace U. S. Flag

BOMBAY, March 6.—(P)—The flag officer commanding Royal Indian naval forces in Bombay today presented to the United States consul general a new American flag to replace one destroyed here by February 19 during a demonstration by mutinous Indian seamen.
Indian naval officials previously had expressed deep regret.

Bibles to Japan

TOKYO, March 6.—A shipment of 100,000 copies of the Holy Bible printed in Japanese arrived by plane today. They are the first of a consignment of 300,000 donated by the American Bible Society.

Strike Deadline March 11

CLEVELAND, Mar. 6 —
(P)—Heads of two big railroad brotherhoods, the train-
men and engineers, today
set 6 a. m. (EST) March 11
as the deadline for a progressive strike which would tie up the nation's rail system.

The expected announcement
was made at a press conference
called jointly by President A. F.
Whitney of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, which has 215,000 members, and Alvaney Johnston, grand
chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' 78,000
members.

The actual walkout could be delayed 30 to 60 days by the president's appointment of a fact-finding committee as provided by the railway labor act.

Such a committee would have 30 days in which to study the strike call and report recommendations for a settlement. The panel's recommendations are not binding on either party to the dispute.

Johnston said at Washington
last month, when he and Whitney
called on President Truman, that
the brotherhood probably would exhaust machinery set up by the railway labor act and on another occasion declared that "whatever provisions the law calls for
we will abide by."

China Reacts Favorably to Policy Speech

CHUNGKING, March 6.— (P)—Unofficial reaction to Winston Churchill's foreign policy speech in Missouri was one of warm support.

Chinese Minister of Information K. C. Wu said the speech reflected the former prime minister's "wisdom and experience."

The general view in Chungking was that a firm concerted policy by the United States and Great Britain toward Russia would have a healthful influence on international affairs. The Chinese expressed hope this would be developed because they felt the first real test case would be Manchuria.

Strike Deadline March 11

Heads of Two Brotherhoods Set
Time for Tieup of Nation's Railroads

CLEVELAND, Mar. 6 —
(P)—Heads of two big railroad brotherhoods, the train-
men and engineers, today
set 6 a. m. (EST) March 11
as the deadline for a progressive strike which would
tie up the nation's rail system.

The expected announcement
was made at a press conference
called jointly by President A. F.
Whitney of the Trainmen's Brotherhood, which has 215,000 members, and Alvaney Johnston, grand
chief engineer of the Brotherhood
of Locomotive Engineers' 78,000
members.

The actual walkout could be
delayed 30 to 60 days by the
president's appointment of a fact-finding committee as provided by
the railway labor act.

Such a committee would have 30 days in which to study the
strike call and report recommendations for a settlement. The panel's recommendations are not
binding on either party to the
dispute.

Johnston said at Washington
last month, when he and Whitney
called on President Truman, that
the brotherhood probably would
exhaust machinery set up by the
railway labor act and on another
occasion declared that "whatever provisions the law calls for
we will abide by."

In instructions which Whitney said were mailed to all members of the two brotherhoods, the Trainmen's president pointed out that employees on mail trains have the same "right to refuse to perform service" as those on other trains.

Mail Train Involved
"So far as your legal right to strike is concerned," the instructions said, "there is no difference between a mail train and any other train. You have identically
the same right to refuse to perform service on a mail train as you have to refuse to perform service on any other train."

"Men in road and yard service are to handle and transport troop trains, hospital trains and milk trains with the understanding that no other service is to be performed in connection therewith."

The strike plan divides all railroads into four groups, with the strike to become effective next Monday on roads in the first group; on March 12 for the second group; March 13 for the third and March 14 for the fourth.

Truman Appeals To Church People For A 'Rising Standard' Of Home Life And Truly Religious Fervor

Truman Takes a Turn at the Throttle Enroute to Columbus

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 6.— (P)—President Truman arrived here at 10:39 a. m. today for an important speech at noon after taking his turn at the throttle of his special train with diesel-powered engine for the second time.
He addressed the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

While newsreel and still camera men photographed the scene, the president raced the 10-car special through Bloomingburg, Mt. Sterling and Derby, O., at a 60-mile an hour clip.

Reporters, reminding him that he had performed briefly as engineer on his trip from Washington to Fulton, Mo., warned that he might get into "union trouble."

"Oh, they gave me a card," he answered, smiling.

Attaches said Mr. Truman was an honorary member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

He kidded Brig. Gen. Harry H.
Vaughan, a military aide and Captain Clark Clifford, assistant naval aide, for having to stand close to the hot machinery while the pictures were being taken.

Mr. Truman was accompanied to Columbus by former prime minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain.

Neither Mr. Truman nor any of his aides made any comment on Churchill's proposal for an Anglo-American alliance or his criticism of Soviet Russian "expansion."

The train rolled into a siding
at the Columbus union depot nine minutes behind schedule with a yard engine pulling.

Strike Briefs

By the Associated Press
The continuing labor disputes keep idle approximately 800,000.

Major Developments
WASHINGTON, March 6.— (P)—A two-hour government conference today produced
"no progress" toward averting tomorrow's threatened nationwide telephone strike but conciliators arranged to renew their efforts promptly.
Conciliator Edgar L. Warren gave newsmen that report as negotiations recessed until afternoon. Earlier, it had been announced that
"some progress" had been made at a session lasting late into the night.

AUTOMOTIVE — Deadlock

000 UMW workers April 1
unless wage demands are met.

SHIPPING — Port of Philadelphia threatened with complete shutdown as 5,500 AFL dock workers set to strike after breakdown of negotiations for wage increase.

Asks Government To Continue Subsidies

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—
The Administration asked congress today for $2,051,000,000 to continue government subsidies on food and other materials, during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The proposal was made by James F. Brownlee, deputy to Economic Stabilizer Chester Bowles, to the House banking committee.
He said halting the subsidy program at the end of the current fiscal year would result in an eight per cent rise in food costs, and a 3 1/2 per cent jump in the overall cost of living.

Donation To Shrine

TOKYO, March 6.—(P)—Kikichi

which recently lost its state financial support.

Blames 'Certain Interests' Termed 'Greedy for Gold' For Delayed Program

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

COLUMBUS, O., March 6.
(P)—President Truman
today laid at the door of "certain interests," which he described as "greedy for gold," the responsibility for much of the opposition to his domestic legislative program.

Appealing directly for church support of measures which may bog down in congress, the president told a special session of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America:

"A truly religious fervor among our people would go a long way toward obtaining a national health program, a national housing program, a national education program, and an extended and improved social security program."

Speaking after a parade through flag-draped, crowd-lined High street from his special train to the Deshler-Wallick hotel, the president called for "a rising standard" of home life.

He urged religious support also for the development of atomic energy under "a high moral code"
to rescue a "sick" world "in the doorway to destruction."

Should Really Believe
The president said that if the people "really believed in the Brotherhood of Man, it would not be necessary to pass a fair employment practices act" to prevent racial discrimination in job-giving and added:

COLUMBUS, O., March 6.—
(P)—President Truman took off

Says Home Service Work Of Red Cross Will Grow

A sharp increase noted in the number of home service cases and a prediction that an even greater upswing in the service will be evident in the next few months was voiced this week by Mrs. Herbert Seifert, home service chairman of the Pettis County Red Cross chapter.

Although much of the Pettis County chapter's current home service case load originated during the war, Mrs. Seifert said, conclusive work on some of the cases will carry the actual time spent on each case well into the work.

In making her report to residents of the Pettis County chapter area, Mrs. Seifert said that home service work of the chapter had grown from sixty-seven cases on December 7, 1941, to 326 cases at the close of the war in August of 1945. The chapter now has a large number of cases engaging the attention of twenty-seven home service workers, it was revealed.

"This figure can be expected to increase," Mrs. Seifert said "if the experience of the American Red Cross in home service work during and after the first World War can be taken as a guide. In one year alone—1942 to 1943—

Red Cross chapters handled 1,410,204 active service cases and 135,488 ex-service cases. The following year both figures more than doubled.

In addition to the personal matters in which the Pettis County chapter can be of assistance, the organization also is handling numerous claims from veterans for government benefits.

Anticipate Applicants

"This specialized work which Red Cross pioneered cannot be expected to reach its peak until about 1970," Mrs. Seifert continued. "We can anticipate an ever-increasing demand from new applicants for Red Cross home service, as well as the carrying on to completion of the home service work we already are performing. We approach the job ahead confident that we will do our best to be worthy of that support."

You can take General MacArthur's word for it!

"The Red Cross has done a 100 per cent job in this theatre. Mathematical limitations alone prevent my saying the Red Cross services here have been more than 100 per cent."

—General Douglas MacArthur

SO speaks a distinguished eye-witness of your Red Cross in action. General MacArthur saw the Red Cross at your fighting man's side, all through the gruelling months of the Pacific campaign. He saw Red Cross huts in the sweltering jungle, bringing a touch of home to homesick, heartsick men.

He knows that wherever your fighting man went, your Red Cross went, too—that wherever, whenever that man needed respite and recreation, help with a personal problem, or just someone to talk to, the Red Cross was there.

He also knows, as you do, that your Red Cross cannot yet say, "Mission accomplished." It still has an enormous task to do.

One War is over...but another War has begun

Thousands of our men still in veterans' hospitals and in far-away lands overseas need comfort and cheer now, as they did when the bombs were bursting. And as our servicemen return to civilian life, your Red Cross must lend a helping hand.

And when disaster strikes here at home—fire, flood, tornado—your Red Cross must be ready with aid for the victims. Its war against human misery is never wholly won.

So remember—it is your Red Cross. It depends on you for its very existence. So give from your heart. Give generously. Give today!

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON + GIVE!

Social Events

The local chapter of the American Association of University Women met Monday at the home of Mrs. Albert Steiner, 1300 West Eleventh street, with Mrs. George Yeaman, Mrs. Bryan Howe, Mrs. Miles Rhodes, Miss Juanita Foster, Mrs. Kathryn Miller and Miss Marie Larkin as assisting hostesses.

Rev. H. U. Campbell was the speaker of the afternoon, taking for his subject: "Look at Yourself."

Refreshments were served by the hostesses and plans were made for the annual tea for high school girls to be given on March twenty-ninth.

Miss Barbara Hula, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hula, 636 East Eleventh street, and Joseph A. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Weber, R. F. D. 1, Sedalia, were married at 9 a. m. February 21 at St. Patrick's church. The Rev. Fr. J. P. Nolan read the ceremony.

Woodwardia fern provided a background for bouquets of pink gladioli on the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net over satin fashioned with a long, fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline and long, full sleeves. The wide, flared skirt culminated in an extremely long train which was trimmed with rosepoint lace. A coronet of orange blossoms secured her fingertip-length veil and her bouquet was of white lilies.

Miss Therese Weber, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor, was attired in a blue gown with fitted bodice of rosepoint lace and full net skirt over satin. The dress was styled with sweetheart neckline and fitted three-quarter length sleeves. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

Miss Betty Jean Hula, sister of the bride, who served as junior bridesmaid, wore a pink net frock fashioned like that of the honor attendant and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

John Weber, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Leo Weber and John Youngkamp were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a black dress with white accessories and corsage of white carnations, while the bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy blue dress with white accessories and corsage of white carnations.

During the ceremony the senior choir sang hymns accompanied by Mrs. J. J. Comer, organist.

The bride, reared in Sedalia, attended St. Patrick's parochial school and is a 1942 graduate of Smith-Cotton high school. She is employed at the Union Savings bank.

The bridegroom, also reared in Sedalia, recently received his discharge from the navy, after 42 months service.

A dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. A three-tier wedding cake centered the table beneath colored streamers held in place by a large white bell.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Edward Brooks and son, Larry, and Howard Whalen and son, Denny, of Kansas City.

The couple left Thursday evening for a week's honeymoon at Denver, Colo. The bride's going-away costume was a black and white check suit with black accessories.

The American Home committee of the LaMonte Nautilus club met February 28 at the home of Mrs. F. R. Harris, where Mrs. Raymond

Wasson led a program of unique subjects.

Mrs. Maggie Conner, who spoke on "How We Get Our Names," suggested that perhaps our appellations were derived from such commonplace things as bridges, hills or wheels, as we have the names of Bridges, Hillman, Wheeler, etc.

"Traditions" was the topic on which Mrs. Raymond Wasson spoke, relating customs peculiar to a family which are carried throughout life.

Mrs. C. E. Terry, partly reared in a small Ohio town described her father's "Country Store," where everything from groceries to harnesses could be found. "The 'hangers on' at the store were a big part in the community life," she declared, "for they gathered and dispensed the news and were judge and jury for all that took place."

The last speaker was Mrs. Conner, who told of all the fun that had its setting in the big room above the country store—the calling of square dances, selling of patent medicine ("Health Draught") and the box supper. "These events," she stated, "with the singing school, spelling bee and strawberry festival, comprised the recreation in earlier days for old and young."

Miss Inez Terry was a guest. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Broadway Presbyterian church will meet Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock at which time the first part of a book review will be given by Mrs. J. E. Cannaday.

A luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock, after which the regular meeting will be held and Mrs. Cannaday will complete her book review. Devotional will be by Miss Grace Ross.

Members of the Missionary Society plan to attend the World's Day of Prayer on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Aloph F. Scott and daughter, Priscilla, 1421 West Fourth street, had as dinner guests Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. Seigel Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hathaway and Mr. and Mrs. Rene Crippen.

Spring flowers formed the centerpiece for the table.

Members of the LaMonte Friendship club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Leonard Reavis the afternoon of February 28. Mrs. J. E. Noland was assistant hostess.

The meeting was opened with prayer and the singing of the club song, after which Mrs. P. S. Craig presided over the business session. It was voted to make the usual contribution to the Red Cross drive. Mrs. C. N. Moore, Mrs. R. E. DeFrain and Mrs. R. E. Kerby gave the report of the nominating committee.

The program, arranged by the Fine Arts committee, proffered the following thought:

"Usually when a person thinks of art, he thinks in terms of beautiful paintings or fine pieces of statuary chiseled from marble. Artists have been identified with those of special talent, skill and education. But as time goes on, it is a convincing fact that everyone is an artist within himself, wherein there is a special talent that surpasses all others, and which, if developed, makes that person an artist creating works of expression in his or her every day living."

Each member was asked to tell of a talent she possessed which might be developed.

Mrs. Charles Cramer and Mrs. Leonard Reavis were guests.

The March 14 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Pace.

Ask Senators To Take Action

JEFFERSON CITY, March 6.—(P)—The Missouri expenditure survey has asked U. S. Senators Frank P. Briggs and Forrest C. Donnell and the state's thirteen representatives to support a budget balancing move in congress, J. R. Baker, president of the Missouri taxpayers' organization, said today. "Persons who have studied the budget have said some $23,000,000,000 of the budget's total is debatable spending and the Missouri survey believes that there are ample opportunities for cuts in spending," Baker said.

Changes in Katy Officials

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—(P)—The Missouri-Kansas-Texas (Katy) today announced the appointment of L. A. (Dinty) Moore, former division passenger agent at Fort Worth, Texas, to general agent of the freight department at Chicago. Moore entered Katy service in 1933 and served as a major in World War II. The railroad also announced the promotion of R. K. McDonald, commercial agent at Kansas City, to division freight agent there. C. W. McClellan was advanced to fill the post vacated by McDonald. The promotion of Gilbert J. White, division freight agent at Kansas City, to be general agent at San Francisco also was announced.

Senate Favors Hoover Idea

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—A pet idea of ex-President Hoover — exchange of students between this country and other nations — aroused strong support in the senate today. Senator Gurney (R-SD) told a reporter the senate military committee was very close to approval of a plan whereby surplus war goods would be used to finance the exchange scholarship program. "Support appeared unanimous," Gurney said, telling of the committee's closed session yesterday. "A few of us asked another week to study it over."

His colleague, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) agreed that: "Sentiment appears to be overwhelmingly favorable."

OPA Lifting Some Ceilings

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—OPA today lifted price controls from electric light bulbs and all musical instruments except radios and phonographs. It also discontinued price ceilings on snow shoes, cowbells, bull rings, gas masks, cocktail shakers, unglazed flower pots and scores of other items, including baseball and football uniforms, except shoes. The exemption order on musical instruments also covers all phonograph records and albums. Next Monday, OPA added, rental ceilings on bicycles will be dropped.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Fannie Lessley

Mrs. Fannie Lessley, widow of the late John Will Lessley, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. Z. Wharton, 1021 South Harrison avenue, at 4:00 o'clock this morning after an illness of four months.

Mrs. Lessley was born in Howard county on April 1, 1871, the daughter of Warren and Madeline Smith. She was married to Mr. Lessley on March 14, 1894 and to this union were born three children, two of whom survive, Mrs. L. Z. Wharton, Sedalia and Clyde Lessley of Fayette. A daughter Mrs. Rhue Wright died in 1934.

Surviving besides the son and daughter are two grandchildren, Mary Frances and Wilma Lee Wright of 1021 South Harrison avenue, and six brothers and sisters, Charles Louis Smith, Howard county, Mrs. Annie B. Lessley, Moberly; Samuel C. Smith and Mrs. Dan Farington, both of Fayette; Warren Kim Smith, Miami, Mo.; William Oscar Smith, Cottage Grove, Ore. One sister preceded her in death.

At an early age Mrs. Lessley united with the Baptist church and was a faithful member of the Mt. Gilead Baptist church at Fayette. Funeral services have not been made pending word from the brother in Oregon.

Mr. Whitley, son of the late John H. and Sarah Whitley, pioneer residents of Pettis county, was born at Clifton City August 3, 1887, and early in life began his railroad career with the M. K. T., later continuing work on the Missouri Pacific. About thirty years ago he was transferred to Jefferson City, where he continued to reside. In 1918 he was married to Miss Lydia Blochberger, of Jefferson City, who survives, as do a daughter, Mrs. Harrell Farrell of Parkville, two sisters, Mrs. A. T. Woodson, 1604 South Carver avenue, and Mrs. Lloyd McBride, of Mexico City, Mex., and two brothers, W. A. Whitley of Detroit, Mich., and Kenneth Whitley, of Kingman, Ariz. Two sisters preceded him in death.

C. where she had been making her home while her husband, to whom she had been married less than a year, is in service in the Pacific area. Mrs. Kaufman recently underwent an operation for appendicitis. She had improved and left the hospital, when she suffered a relapse, and was taken back to the hospital, where she died. She was a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rumsey, 1720 South Prospect avenue. The body will be brought to Sedalia for funeral services and burial. It will be taken to the Gillespie funeral home. No funeral arrangements had been made today.

dress an appeal for food sharing "to save the starving millions in Europe and Asia and Africa."

He said America's churches — Protestant and Catholic and the Jewish synagogue — bound together in the American "unity of brotherhood," must provide the "spiritual awakening" necessary to substitute "decency and reason and brotherhood for the rule of force in the government of man."

"Oh for an Isaiah or a Saint Paul to reawaken a sick world to its moral responsibilities," he declared.

'Regimentation' Says Bennett

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—A plan under discussion by the agriculture department for possible use when and if this country has farm surplus in future years would mean "complete regimentation," Rep. Bennett (R-Mo.) contends.

The plan, Bennett said, would permit farm prices to fall to the competitive world market price. The government then would undertake to pay the farmer the difference between the world price and 90 per cent of parity.

"In order to prevent unlimited production and an unlimited run on the treasury there would, of necessity, have to be complete regimentation of agricultural production by the government," Bennett said in a statement.

"The farmer would be made completely dependent on a government check sent by the same bureaucrats who tell him how much and when he can grow, when and where. The person most benefitted will be the politician who, under this procedure, will have the farmer in a set of bureaucratic harness."

Lack of Labor Main Obstacle

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—The labor shortage is the principal obstacle to increased production of lumber, Paul Porter, new OPA administrator, has written Rep. Carnahan (D-Mo.). Carnahan had forwarded to Porter from Maurice Cooper, Steelville, Mo., lumber and furniture dealer, expressing the belief that relationship between cost and price was retarding lumber production.

Cost-price relationship is only a minor factor, Porter declared, never having been more than a five per cent obstacle to production.

With 1939 as an index of 100, Porter said, production of lumber now is 95, the wholesale price is 172, having gone up continuously and not downward at any time, and the employment index is 73. "I can see no particular reason for getting excited over a subsidy for housing, a bureau or a regulation where the welfare of the veteran is at stake," Carnahan told a reporter. "If it takes those things to give the ex-serviceman a house, let's have a subsidy."

Released After 25 Months' Service

Eugene E. Boone, son of Mrs. Maude E. Boone, 408 South Thompson avenue, has arrived home from Lambert Field, St. Louis, where he received his discharge on February 27, after twenty-five months service.

Boone served as a pharmacist mate in the U. S. Navy aboard an auxiliary repair ship operating in the Pacific. He was in the Marianas, Rhynda and the Japanese home islands, and before his return home was stationed at the U. S. Naval hospital area heights Territory of Hawaii.

Pettis Chapter No. 279, O. E. S., will meet in regular session Friday, March 8 at 7:30 p. m. Ceremony, "The Book of Love." Visiting members welcome. Program and social session. Mildred M. Reed, W. M. Gertrude Holland, Sec'y.

and D. S. Lamm. Burial was in Crown Hill cemetery.

Mr. Housel was a brother of Mrs. Genevieve Slocum, 520 South Lafayette and W. C. Housel, 1500 West Fourth street.

C. A. Thomas Service
Funeral services for Charles A. Thomas, 116 West Seventh street, who died at the Bothwell hospital Tuesday afternoon, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the McLaughlin funeral chapel with Rev. Herman Janssen, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church to officiate.

Pallbearers will be David Thomson, Emmet Turner, Charles Mawhorter, Joe Reid, L. J. Harned and Sam Rudder. Burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

The Elks organization will have the services at the grave.

Cities represented include Kansas City, Joplin and Carthage, Mo.; Pittsburg, Kas.; Miami, Ok., and Bentonville, Ark. At a meeting last night it was agreed to make a "determined inquiry" into reasons for the transfer of the school back to Monmouth, N. J.

Discouraged Loitering

The minister of finance at Baghdad, Iraq, issued orders to all departments that there must be only one chair in the rooms of bureau heads. The order was given to discourage visitors wasting time in governmental offices.

Youngest Signers

The two youngest signers of the Declaration of Independence were Edward Rutledge and Thomas Lynch, both 27, and both from South Carolina.

World's Treasure Spot

Cocos Island, in the Pacific, is believed by many to be the richest treasure spot in the world. Value of its store of hidden gold, silver and jewels has been estimated at $60,000,000 by the British foreign office and consists of the hoarded loot of pirates for centuries past. Treasure hunters, however, have found nothing in the course of their diggings.

Warned FDR Of Scandal

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—Harold L. Ickes testified today he told President Roosevelt in 1944 that "sooner or later you are going to have a scandal on your hands" if an oil man remained as Democratic National committee treasurer.

The statement by the former secretary came as he and Senator Tydings (D-Md) clashed over procedure in the Senate Naval committee's hearings on the nomination of Edwin Pauley for under-secretary of the navy. Pauley, a California oil man, formerly was Democratic National treasurer.

Ickes told the committee, under questioning by Tydings, that he did not remember making a statement in an interview with Sam Shelton, printed in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch July 5, 1945, that "Pauley was within his rights" and "did not resort to improper methods" in opposing court settlement of federal claims to tidelands oil areas.

Was a Mistake

If he said that, Ickes testified, it was a mistake because "improper methods had been used by Mr. Pauley and used constantly by him."

When Tydings said that the former Secretary of the Interior was contradicting himself, the witness interrupted him to assert:

"Now you don't have to shake an admonitory finger at me. I hope your record is as clear as mine."

Brides Sail For the States

LE HAVRE, France, March 8.—(P)—Nearly 500 French and Belgian wives and children of American soldiers sailed for the United States today, after the departure of their transport, the George W. Goethals, was delayed 20 minutes when the mother of one bride tried to stow away.

Army authorities, finally persuaded Mme. Lulu Politzer of Paris that she could not make the trip. Mme. Politzer is the mother of Mrs. Josette Adelson, who is en route to join her husband, former Warrant Officer Jack Adelson, of Altoona, Pa.

The incident did not dampen the gaiety of the brides. Nor were they disturbed when their transport bumped into the stern of the U. S. S. General Anderson, which was loading American soldiers for a homeward voyage. No one was hurt and no damage was done. The soldiers joined in the singing and joking as the bride ship pulled out of La Havre.

Army authorities said the George W. Goethals would arrive in New York in less than two weeks. The wives and children aboard were the first of 6,000 U. S. soldier-dependents scheduled to depart from the European theater in weekly contingents.

Activities in State Senate

JEFFERSON CITY, March 6.—(P)—The Senate passed today a bill calling for uniform certification of teachers in Missouri's schools, but delayed final action on other measures pending their further study.

Senator W. W. Sunderwirth (R) of Eldorado Springs said there were now 122 different certification agencies in Missouri, and that his bill would place the regulation of teachers' examinations under the new department of education, which starts operating July 1.

The Senate also removed restrictions on the amounts of money counties may pay for transportation of negro students. Sunderwirth said some negro school children in rural areas were being denied equal education facilities by the $5 per pupil limit imposed in the existing law.

Other measures were shunted to the informal calendar without action.

Births

Son, born to Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fenton, of Tipton, at 2:12 p. m. Tuesday at the Bothwell hospital.

Defeat District Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, March 6.—(P)—The Missouri House of Representatives defeated 68 to 54, a bill which would have realigned Missouri's 13 congressional districts, making major changes in North Missouri districts.

Sedalia Chapter No. 29, Order of De Molay, will meet in regular communication Wednesday, March 6, 7:30 p. m. DeMolays and Masons invited.

Deny Deluge Of Inquiries

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—After a busy night answering the deluge of queries, war department spokesmen said today the following just isn't so:

1. That demobilization has been "frozen."
2. That army reserves are being "alerted" by telegram.
3. That leaves have been "cancelled."

The navy also said it had been receiving the same kind of queries and the answer was the same as the army's.

The war department had no explanation as to why such rumors were going around. Unofficially one spokesman said that it might be the natural result of a stiffening of American attitude in foreign affairs.

Meeting Thursday

The Young People's Missionary Society of Epworth Methodist church will meet at the church Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Warns That 'Time Is Short' For Getting World In Order

By James D. White
(Associated Press Writer)

No less than seven times in his speech at Fulton, Mo., Tuesday Winston Churchill bespoke a feeling that time is getting short for the world to come to order.

He spoke first of "at least a breathing space" before the "perilous task" of "rebuilding the world" is to be encountered where "totalitarian systems might use the atomic bomb."

Dwelling on efforts to build a "temple of peace," he warned again of the danger of a third world war; "Beware, I say; time is short."

Growing Challenge

Then, elaborating his charges of Communist activities in various countries and alleging these to be a "growing challenge and peril to Christian civilization," he said: "These are sombre facts for us to have to recite on the morrow of a victory gained by so much splendid comradeship in arms and in the cause of freedom."

and democracy, and we should be most unwise not to face them squarely while time remains."

Two more warnings: "What they (Soviet Russia) desire is the fruits of war and the indefinite expansion of their power and doctrines. But what we have to consider here today while time remains is the permanent prevention of war and the establishment of conditions of freedom and democracy as rapidly as possible in all countries. . . what is needed is a settlement and the longer this is delayed the more difficult it will be and the greater our dangers will become."

Influence Immense

Still another: "If the western democracies stand together in strict adherence to the principle of the United Nations charter, their influence for furthering these principles will be immense and no one is likely to molest them. If, however, they become divided or falter in their duty, and if these all-important years are allowed to slip away then indeed catastrophe may overwhelm us all."

And last: "Saying that the last war could have been prevented 'without the firing of a single shot' but that it happened anyway, he declared, 'we surely must not let that happen again. This can only be achieved by reaching now, in 1946, a good understanding on all points with Russia under the general organization and by maintenance authority of the United Nations of that good understanding through many peaceful years, by the world instrument, supported by the whole strength of the English-speaking world and all its connections.'"

Mr. Churchill ended with a prediction that "...the high roads of the future will be clear, not only for us but for all, not only for our time but for a century to come."

He did not say "forever."

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, March 6— If there were more men like housing expediter Wilson Wyatt around, President Truman would have easier sailing. The other day in Chicago, Wyatt was guest speaker at a banquet of the National Association of Home Builders, 3,200 strong, all hostile, all prepared to boo at the man who proposed revolutionary building reforms in order to complete 3,000,000 homes in two years.

As Wyatt arose, the atmosphere was charged with hostility. However, he told stories, explained his program, made no antagonistic statements.

"If you gentlemen are against this program, then you don't understand it," Wyatt said. "It's my fault for not making it clear."

After 45 minutes, having won over a considerable part of the audience, he stopped. Then for 45 minutes more he answered questions. Every inch of the way he fought for his program of low-cost housing for veterans.

Finally, when he finished, every builder in the huge dining room rose to his feet and cheered.

Prior to Wyatt's speech, the National Association of Home Builders had adopted a resolution opposing premium payments of $600,000,000 to spur housing. Wyatt proposed these premiums to be paid to manufacturers of building materials who increased their normal production. The more they increased production, the greater the incentive payment they would receive. But the building industry, wanting increased prices, had voted emphatically against this plan.

After his speech, however, the directors of the home builders reversed themselves and telegraphed congress in support of Wyatt's plan for incentive payments as a premium to those who produced most.

Pauley's Enemy

Regardless of the merits of the Pauley fight, his enemies picked a poor one when they called William A. Patterson, head of United Air Lines, to the witness stand.

Patterson is so rabid in his political views that in 1940 he required his airplane stewardesses to pass out Wilkie buttons to passengers. He even gave strong hints to employees as to how they should vote.

Patterson is so unpopular with other airline chiefs that they have even been considering excluding him from their airline association.

New Boss for Germany

It got practically no publicity but an appointment far more important than that of Ed Pauley as undersecretary of the navy was made the other day when Maj. Gen. John Hildring became assistant secretary of state in charge of occupied areas.

Upon the way Hildring does his job will depend in part whether we have war again with Germany and Japan.

The state department has planned to put these enemy countries under the direction of a civilian administration, but as the result of some interesting backstage wire pulling, an army officer was appointed instead.

The maneuvering goes back to General Eisenhower's return to Washington from Europe when he went to Secretary of State Byrnes and urged that the army be relieved of governing Germany as soon as possible.

"The army will, of course, continue to maintain law and order," Eisenhower told Byrnes, "but governing occupied countries is not the job of the army."

Secretary Byrnes, however, demurred. Harassed with diplomatic problems all over the world, he did not want the terrific headache of governing Germany and Japan dumped on the state department doorstep. Finally, however, he suggested the appointment of General Lucius Clay as chairman of a government committee to advise on Germany.

Gen. Eisenhower, disappointed, immediately cabled Secretary of War Patterson, then in Japan. Patterson cabled back that Gen. Clay was too valuable where he was in Germany, could not return to Washington. Patterson also expressed disappointment that Byrnes was not ready to relieve the army and take over the German problem in toto.

So, after more behind-the-scenes jockeying, it was agreed that a special assistant secretary of state be appointed to begin setting up civilian government for Germany and Japan.

That was how General Hildring, a hard-boiled army officer, happened to join the diplomatic service, somewhat against his will, as head of the future civilian governments of Germany and Japan.

Note — General Hildring is unpretentious, sincere, honest, hard-working, believes the army has no business doing civilian jobs. He will be a definite asset to the state department.

Spanish-Nazi Cooperation

Most amazing thing about the present pressure on Spain is why the Allies waited so long to bring it. The secret files of the state department reveal that on Jan. 28, 1944, British ambassador Lord Templewood (formerly Sir Samuel Hoare) sent a hot note to Franco giving a detailed list of German agents and what they were doing to the Allies.

At this date, the Allies were firmly entrenched in Africa and Italy, with the Germans in retreat and unable to start any fireworks in Spain.

On March 9, 1944, Ambassador Carlton Hayes, a devout admirer of Franco, finally got around to forwarding the state department a copy of the British protest. Here are the German agents listed by the British whose activities they demanded Franco stop:

1. The chief of the organization in Spain is Gustav Lenz, a captain in the German army.

2. An assistant to Lenz who is valued for his Spanish contacts in Madrid is Joaquim Canaris.

3. Another associate of Lenz is Eberhardt Kieckbusch. This man sends agents to the United Kingdom and the USA.

4. Hermann Baltzer. This German espionage agent is believed to be in charge of the coast-watching organization in which Spanish observers are employed.

5. Gustav Fock. Directs agents in Barcelona and North Africa.

6. Hans von Buch. This agent supervises the transportation of German agents by air routes.

7. Kurt von Rohrscheidt. Directs and operates spies in Spain.

8. Karl Schwartz von Berg. This agent has many contacts throughout Spain with Lenz sabotage organizations and has been particularly active in the Gibraltar area.

9. Doctor Weiss. This German agent visits Seville and Barcelona. He is known to specialize in collecting information on Allied aircraft and armaments. He directs German agents outside of Spain.

10. Karl Heinrich Albrecht Grosspaetsch. Travels in Spain as a liaison officer between various sections of the German intelligence service.

11. Dembinsky — A German agent who collects information from ports in the south of Spain.

12. Friedrich Kreh is a technical specialist and valued assistant on the Lenz staff.

13. Hermann von Wehckstern directs a network of agents who operate in Lisbon and Barcelona; he also obtains military information from North Africa and has recently been awarded a decoration

Murder! They Died

By DOROTHY STALEY

XXIX

MY MISS JENNY rocked back and forth, her body shaken by great sobs, and neither Dru nor I could quiet her, but when Betsy began to cry, she tried to get hold of herself. I sent for Dr. Bertolette any how and he put my Miss Jenny to bed with an opiate. All evening as I sat by her bed those words kept ringing in my ears. "What have I done? What have I done?" It was a question we could all well ask ourselves. For where indeed had this thing begun and which one of us was guilty of its growth?

The next morning we gathered early in the library, all the family except my Miss Jenny, and the servants, while Dr. Richards read "The Order for the Burial of the Dead," as the prayer book calls it. Then we took Phillips out to St. Mark's churchyard and left her in the Willson family vault, and all the time I could hear Betsy saying to her that hot third of July afternoon, "But you are a Willson."

Because the library had been recently occupied, Zern and Straub and Jeffrey Hazlett had made their headquarters in the dining room around the long table. They gave us no time. We were told we were to be there as soon as we could lay aside our hats. Betsy went to get Dru who had stayed with my Miss Jenny. So I was the first one down and as I went in, I heard Zern saying, "I would have thought this old guy had done it on account of the blackmail angle if it hadn't been for the fact that that would have done the very thing he didn't want—spill the beans."

The other one said, "Yes, but . . . and then they saw me and stopped talking."

WHEN we were all there, they went over and over the same things again. Finally Zern shuffled his papers and squinted at Jeffrey Hazlett and Straub took his cigar from his mouth and leaned toward him. Jeffrey looked uncomfortable and shifted a bit in his chair. Then he said, "I'm sorry, Fletcher, but I'm afraid . . . You see, we can't check your movements after eleven o'clock. The Dwyers say you left their home just as the eleven o'clock news broadcast came on and it would take you only twenty minutes to come home from there."

Fletcher looked at him blankly. "I told you I had a flat tire and it took a while to change it because I had trouble with the jack."

Straub quirked his lips and shifted his weight in his chair with an impatient gesture. "I told you he'd bring that up. They always do."

"Oh, come now," Zern said, "that's stretching it too thin. Get it over with, chief. Tell him he's under arrest. We know you met your wife and . . ."

"You know no such thing." The scorn in Betsy's voice should have withered Zern, but it didn't. In fact, there was quite a bit of scorn in his voice as he answered her. "No? Then maybe you can tell us what happened."

Betsy's voice never faltered. "No, I can't tell you what happened, but Fletcher was with Dru from twelve-thirty on and I saw . . . her voice soared in triumph and she smiled at Zern—". . . I saw Phillips some time between two and two-thirty."

FLETCHER jumped up and said, "Betsy! For God's sake!"

She looked at him calmly. "Sit down, Fletcher. I should have told this before. I left Ann Quillman's party and went with Pen to his studio shortly after one." She turned to Straub. "That is where I left my handkerchief. Pen played for me and then we were just sitting there. Talking. I had been there about an hour. It hadn't begun to storm yet." She looked at Jeffrey Hazlett. "You know how the old Barclay house is built, Jeff. Pen has turned the whole front—the hall and living room and dining room into his studio. So naturally we could hear this knocking at the door and Pen called out, 'Who's there?' It was Phil, and Pen said, 'Here, you better get out of sight until I get rid of her.' She turned to Jeffrey again. "You know the small room Mr. Barclay had for a den! Right off the living room." Jeffrey nodded. "Well, now that's a powder room, but the old door to the garden is still there. So I went in there."

She looked appealingly at Fletcher. "I felt so cheap. Like a rather bad play." She stopped and no one said anything.

"Phil was shouting at the door. 'Pen for Pete's sake, let me in. It's going to storm and I'm out of gas. I'll have to stay here . . .'" Betsy stopped speaking and moistened her lips ". . . again."

Betsy buried her face in her hands. Somewhere far off I could hear Phillips saying, "Ask him where he is when he isn't with you. Go on. I dare you. I could tell you if I wanted to. What would he want with a bread and milk poltice?" But Betsy wasn't bread and milk. She lifted her head proudly. "And that was why I had gone there—to stay."

Fletcher said, "God!" but Betsy ignored it and went right on. "Pen told her she couldn't stay and she laughed at him. 'No?' she asked, 'who's here?' I could hear her coming toward the little room and I ran out the garden door. I can't tell you any more. I came home."

She wavered a little and Fletcher went to her quickly and put his arms around her. She went on bravely then. "Only I know no one killed Phil. Uncle Andrew said it was Divine Providence and it must have been."

Wild love dies slowly in the young.

(To Be Concluded)

and all had a most enjoyable season of pleasure.

Forty years ago yesterday Col. J. West Goodwin opened a printing office in Sedalia and in commemoration of the anniversary, two of his friends W. H. Powell and Dr. W. J. Ferguson presented the veteran editor with a most beautiful gold headed ebony cane, $26,000.

The walking stick was appropriately engraved with the names of the donors and when it was handed to him by Mr. George Bichsel the colonel was completely taken by surprised.

John W. Thompson has sold a 490 acre farm, two miles south of Houstonia to J. W. Bolger for $226,000.

LADY NEARLY CHOKED WHILE LYING IN BED— DUE TO STOMACH GAS

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got ERB-HELP and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Sold by all drug stores here in Sedalia.

Our services are available to everyone regardless of financial circumstances. But—more important than that—we offer the people of this community a service and plan that eliminates the financial burden entirely—a plan that PROVIDES funds for funeral expenses.

Complete information about this will be given gladly by any member of our staff. There is no cost or obligation attached to such counsel.

People of India do not Realize Problems Freedom will Bring

By Hal Boyle

BOMBAY, March 6.—(AP)—India, standing on the threshold of political independence, shows little evidence of realizing what weighty internal problems will come with freedom.

Her politicians now are openly divided only on one question—the religious issue of whether India shall remain united or divided into two states, Pakistan for Moslems and Hindustan for the Hindu majority.

Regardless, however, of whether India splits or remains intact, there must ensue the grasp for power on the part of conflicting elements among the population of this "Jewel of the Empire" when the British let go their reins.

This vast, sprawling sub-continent then will become a political battlefield of opposing economic and social philosophies.

Many Illiterates
India is a great land, with few "shaves" and many have not. It shares with China the unhappy distinction of being one of the most illiterate major countries on the globe. Its wealth is concentrated in a small upper class, and huge masses of people live in life-long financial bondage. They are born into debt and die in debt.

But will they be content to remain feudal peons? If their non-violent political revolution succeeds, will economic and social revolution be far behind?

Young Indian intellectuals don't bother themselves much about what will happen when their people are "free." At present they blame all of India's ills on Britain.

If Indian cows give less than one-fifth as much milk as European cows, who is to blame? The British.

Blame the British
If crops fail and famine follows, whose fault is it? The British.

Paidit Jawaharlal Nehru, alone among India's popular leaders, has counseled need of lifting India from its present agricultural feudalism to industrial democracy.

But few of his followers appear yet to realize what sweeping changes must be made in Indian life to achieve even the rudiments of real democracy.

They talk and talk endlessly of politics. That is the curse of India—politics. To much political talk and too little social action.

Most young Indians are as ardently and selflessly patriotic as any group their age in the world. But they appear to have unbounded faith that the blind will see and the lame will walk and deserts will sprout rice just as soon as the British relinquish their authority.

They have sadly to learn of greater battles to come—the fight against "the enemy within," their own home-grown Fascists who for centuries have lived in ease and luxury. India is a stratified, crushing social pyramid, at whose bottom lie fifty million casteless "untouchables."

Eighth Industrial Power
India is already the world's eighth industrial power. The factory system is slowly helping break down the age-old caste system, but has helped less to break down economic barriers or provide an avenue out of poverty for toiling millions. Ignorant factory workers and educated Indian school teachers alike earn less than native servants in larger cities, who get less than $20 a month.

The machine has failed to become the major liberating force in India it has been in western nations. And most observers agree that working conditions and pay are better in European-run factories here than in those operated by rich Indians.

Many Shackles
Those who best love India—and it is surprising to find how many foreigners here hold her in equal affection with their own countries—know that the shackles of empire are only one of many bonds that must be broken—through bloodshed or long compromise—before she can be truly free. They are the shackles of caste, prejudice, religious antagonism, bigotry, ignorance, superstition, exploitation and cruel want. And these are chains that don't all bear the trademark, "Made in Britain."

So India—land of cholera, elephants, snake charmers and one-day laundry service—stands at only the first of two crossroads. It is the second crossroad that holds the chief interest to the outside world. What do its signposts say? Industrial feudalism or industrial democracy? Fascism or Communism?

India lacks now the haven of a great middle class, the middle class that likes the middle way.

ABC of Nation's Threatened Telephone Strike

would depend on how well they could be kept in repair; some telephone systems would be affected; and overseas telephoning would end.

Some Supervisors On Job
The union says emergency calls could be handled by supervisors who are not members of the federation and therefore would be on the job.

The federation's main negotiations for increased wages have been conducted with about a score of companies which are part of the Bell Telephone System. The parent company is the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

(The federation has contracts with some independent companies and these would not be involved in the strike.)

But this is how the dispute started:
Last December the national federation's 51 local unions met in Milwaukee and decided to ask for a raise of $2 a day. They met in Memphis in mid-February to see what progress they had made.

They Found:
Perhaps a dozen local unions had settled their wage demands for increases of 7½ to 20 cents an hour; some were still bargaining with their employers; the negotiations of others had broken down.

It was then that the 17 local unions, which already by law had given the government 30-day notice of intention to strike, decided to strike March 7 at 6 a. m. in each locality if they had not reached a settlement.

The 17 also agreed that none would close a deal until all 17 had reached agreement although this didn't mean, so the federation says, that all 17 would demand the same increase.

Then the remaining 34 agreed to support the strikers. Some of those 34 couldn't go on strike because they hadn't filed 30-days notice, or had reached a settlement, or had unexpired contracts which prevented a strike.

A Big Union
The wage dispute getting the most publicity now is that of the long-distance operators—their union is called the Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers—who demanded 18½ cents an hour more from the American Telephone and Telegraph company. The company offered 15 cents.

This union has operators in 42 states. It's a big union. Another big one in the group of 17 is the Association of Communication Equipment Workers with members in 48 states.

So a strike by only those two of the 17 which called a strike for tomorrow would affect telephone service in 48 states.

Appeal in Starling Case

KANSAS CITY, March 6.—(AP)—Seeking to prevent the return of William Lawrence Starling, prison camp fugitive, to Virginia, his attorneys yesterday filed notice they would appeal to the Eighth United States circuit court.

Earlier Federal District Judge Albert A. Ridge had refused to issue a writ of habeas corpus to stop extradition proceedings. Gov. Phil M. Donnelly had ordered Starling extradited March 1.

Starling's attorneys allege he came to Missouri "to escape the brutalities of the Virginia penal system" and that he is being held here illegally.

Had Much Time
In Combat Duty

Pfc. (acting T/4) Harry R. Fulton of Malta Bend believes he has spent more time in a combat zone
than any other Saline county resident with his record of 218 days in combat areas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fulton of Malta Bend, brother of Mrs.
Malcolm Scott, whose husband was formerly a judge of Pettis county, and since the end of the war has married the former Marie Jones, owner of the Minute Cafe,
116 East Second street.

Fulton entered service in April of 1942 and left for overseas service September 1, 1942. His organization went direct to the Fiji Islands, then to Australia, from which place he moved into combat areas.

A veteran of many air raids, he recalls one occasion when a Jap pilot parachuted to the ground near his unit and upon landing was covered by American guns. Rising from his tangled chute, the Jap queried in good English, "How are things in Brooklyn?"

He has a collection of native articles gathered in the South Sea islands, a collection of foreign coins, a Jap uniform and a Christian catechism printed in a native island language.

Raise Circuit Judges' Pay

JEFFERSON CITY, March 6—
(AP)—A Missouri senate committee last night approved a $2,000 increase in salaries for out-state circuit judges.
The measure, which does not affect judges in St. Louis, St.
Louis county or Jackson county,
would raise all the judges to $8,- 000 a year with the exception of judges in Jasper and Pettis counties whose pay would be increased to $6,700 and $7,700 respectively.

The governor vetoed a similar measure last year containing a pay raise for judges in the state's two metropolitan areas.
The committee also voted a $2,- 000 yearly increase for the judge of the court of common pleas of Cape Girardeau county.
Also approved was a measure which, with a committee amendment, would raise the statutory rate for publication of legal advertisements in Kansas City and

You aren't getting machinery, Mr. Farmer, because...

PICKET LINES
have taken the place of PRODUCTION LINES!
...so don't blame your Implement Dealer!

Your implement dealer had planned and expected to have his display floor filled with new implements and tractors weeks ago. And we had planned to make them—had told our dealers and our farmer
customers they would have new equipment and plenty of service parts for the 1946 spring work. And we had hoped to sell these machines at no advance in price.

Real Production Had Started
When the war ended, our organization bent every effort to increase production, with the result that in the last months of 1945 machinery was being built in very substantial quantities. Here are a few figures:

ITEM	NOV. 1945	DEC. 1945
Tractors.....	7,271	7,432
Combines.....	2,345	2,526
Cultivators.....	3,482	3,308
Hay Loaders.....	209	982
Plows.....	6,185	6,702*

*Plows are made in our Canton and Chattanooga Works, which are not on strike. January production was 7,747 plows.

Both your dealer and we were encouraged by this production picture at the turn of the year. But the strike changed all that. As you know, the CIO United Farm Equipment & Metal Workers of America called a strike in ten of our plants, on January 21, 1946.

What Is The Strike About?
Wages are a basic issue. At the time of the strike, Harvester employees were among the highest paid workers in American industry.
When the strike began, the average hourly earnings in the ten plants, not including overtime, were $1.15½. If present wage proposals are adopted, this figure will become $1.53½ per hour.

When the strike began, negotiations were broken off by the Union on the issue of compulsory union membership. The Company has no desire to weaken the Union. It recognizes certain reasonable needs of the Union.
But the Company does oppose compulsory unionism. It feels strongly that an employee's membership should be a matter of his own choice.
Material Costs and Price Relief
Wages and materials are the great costs of operating our business—together they consume all but a few cents of every dollar the Company takes in. Wages are obviously going to be high—and nobody knows just how high material costs will go.
In the face of rising costs of materials, the Company does not see how it can pay the wage increases recommended by a Government fact finding board until it has definite and satisfactory assurance from the Government that reasonable price relief will be granted to the Company within a reasonable period of time. This matter is of such importance that it will not be discussed here, but will be covered by future advertisements
devoted to both prices and profits.
Speaking for our dealers and ourselves, we can assure you that no customer is more eager than we are to resume production. We are doing and shall continue to do everything in our power to bring about a fair settlement as soon as possible.

Citizens Win In Primary

KANSAS CITY, March 6.—(P)—The complete unofficial count in Kansas City's quiet primary election gave the citizens ticket a substantial margin of victory over the old Pendergast organization forces today.

The citizens party's advantage, however, was far from the more than two-to-one majority it rolled up in the primary two years ago.

Balloting yesterday for the mayoralty candidates in the city's 462 precincts showed 31,632 votes for William E. Kemp, citizens party, against 25,074 votes for Robert K. Ryland, his opponent.

Similar margins prevailed in the councilman and municipal judge races except in one district where the organization traditionally wins. The final election will be March 26.

A $2,500,000 bond issue for an underground parking garage and a $300,000 issue to build a modern police and fire department radio system failed to receive the necessary two-thirds majority.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 6.—(P)—Because his coffee was hot, Frank Taylor, 49, wound up in Emergency hospital for lacerations of his right ear and lower lip. This is how it happened:

Taylor's coffee was so hot he choked. His false teeth turned crosswise in his mouth and cut his lip. Unnerved, he fell off his chair, struck his head against the table and cut his ear.

Esteppe Loses To Zaharias Tuesday Night

Sailor Blassie Beats Tillman; The Special Event To A Draw

Wrestling fans went to the State Guard Armory Tuesday night to see action. Action is what they saw and in spite of the fact their idol, Marshall Esteppe, Sturgeon, lost to Babe Zaharias, Columbus, Ohio, they witnessed a heated match.

Esteppe tried everything, but dropped the first fall to Zaharias who used a self strangle hold. The former postmaster from Sturgeon couldn't break loose and he was down for the first fall in 12 minutes and 10 seconds. He came back with "blood in his eye" in the second fall stanza and after using a series of drop kicks followed by several Irish flips, he body smothered the boy from Columbus and won in three minutes.

The final fall would have been Esteppe's without a doubt, as he had Zaharias staggering around when he used his famous flying kicks. But in trying for the final kick he missed Zaharias and fell on his back stunned. Zaharias dropped on Esteppe and won the fall in six minutes and 30 seconds.

Sailor Blassie, St. Louis, and Larry Tillman, Muskogee, Okla., furnished plenty of thrills which nearly caused the crowd to yell itself nearly hoarse. For ten minutes the two men beat each other and threw each other, and did about everything in and out of the book, with Blassie finally succeeding in using a series of flying tackles off the ropes and then getting a body smother to win in 10 minutes and 45 seconds. The second fall went to Tillman who used the back breaker and body smother to win in six minutes and 35 seconds. The final fall was won by Blassie who applied the inverted jack knife hold, time being six minutes and 15 seconds.

The Swedish Angel, substituted for Jack O'Neill, Chicago who was unable to come to Sedalia, and met Ken Fenelon. For thirty minutes the two men wrestled, grappled, and beat one another only to end the match in a draw. The Angel, after the match said, "Fenelon is one of the toughest I've met around these parts."

Program Due To Mushroom

WASHINGTON, March 6.—(P)—The Veterans Administration whipped into shape today a plan to head off further exploitation of veterans studying a trade under the "earn-learn" provisions of the G. I. bill of rights.

The formal announcement, expected any day, will come at a time when the administration is receiving reports that some employers are using the veterans to lighten payrolls.

They are able to pay them less than other employees, one official said, because the veterans receive $65 to $90 a month subsistence pay from the government.

The program, aiding only 25,000 students now, is due to mushroom.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
NEW YORK, March 6.—(P)—Jimmy Proscia and Jesse L. Stern who head up a new outfit trying to revive six-day bike racing, are toying with the idea of "streamlining" the grind. . . . The plan would call for rest periods from 5 a. m. to noon — when no one is in the joint anyway — except in the last 48 hours and almost continuous sprinting the rest of the time. . . . Another ambitious plan, providing the "test" races in Chicago and Montreal this spring draw the fans, is to set up eastern and western circuits with a "final" in New York. . . . They are also talking about building a velodrome on Long Island to develop new riders and new customers and then importing a lot of European talent to race against the Americans. . . . Come to think of it, if the riders can pedal as fast as Jimmy and Jesse can talk they'll probably set a record the first time out.

Today's Guest Star
C. M. Gibbs, Baltimore Sun: "Rogers Hornsby is 'teaching' the Chicago White Sox how to hit. . . . Anyone would naturally suppose that ball players who reach the high estate of employment by a major league club would have learned how to hit before they got that far. . . . Apparently the White Sox are somewhat different."

One-Minute Sports Page
France's Marcel Hansenne says he won't return for another indoor track campaign because he doesn't like running on the boards and prefers to appear when he can be in top shape. But if he had to do it again, Marcel adds that his only change in training routine would be "not eat so much." . . . A couple of Ithaca, N. Y., "College Town Quarterbacks" report that Nick Drahos has just returned to Cornell for graduate work and is more likely to be picked as line coach than Gil Bouley. . . . The Athletics' Bobo Newsom wears the biggest uniform shirt in the majors, size 52, since Paul Derringer is out. Now who wears the biggest hat?
